

By spreading from China to the West, Chinese Medicine has come to express a variety of facets.

Each one of the approaches informing its current multiple styles presents both points of strength and weakness.

We have asked 31 world renowned experts to talk about what entices them, what makes them passionate, and what they believe is worth enhancing and transmitting to the future generations.

Although during these two days, we are all invited to listen to many apparently discordant voices and viewpoints, we hope that this event will facilitate a constructive exchange of knowledge and opinions.
